

Charlotte Region Housing Supply Overview

July 2022

New-home production is slowing, as soaring costs and declining housing affordability have caused builder confidence to plummet to its lowest level since April 2020. As material costs, interest rates, and home prices continue to surge—the median sales price of a new single-family home was north of $400,000 as of last measure—builders are becoming increasingly cautious about the future of new home sales, with the Commerce Department reporting that sales of new single-family homes, housing starts, and permits recently dropped to a 2-year low. For the 12-month period spanning August 2021 through July 2022, Pending Sales in the Charlotte region were down 6.3 percent overall. The price range with the largest gain in sales was the $300,001 and Above range, where they increased 16.9 percent.

The overall Median Sales Price was up 18.0 percent to $360,000. The property type with the largest price gain was the Condo-Townhome segment, where prices increased 19.6 percent to $305,000. The price range that tended to sell the quickest was the $200,001 to $300,000 range at 14 days; the price range that tended to sell the slowest was the $100,000 and Below range at 30 days.

Market-wide, inventory levels were up 23.9 percent. The property type that gained the most inventory was the Single-Family segment, where it increased 27.3 percent. That amounts to 1.5 months supply for Single-Family homes and 1.2 months supply for Condos-Townhomes.

Cumulative Days on Market Until Sale

Cumulative Days on Market (CDOM) functions like Days on Market (DOM), but CDOM tracks DOM for a property over a period of multiple listings. When a new listing is entered, CDOM resets to zero only if the previous listing closed (sold) or if the previous listing has been off the market (expired, withdrawn) for more than 90 days. Based on a rolling 12-month average.
