More information on ActiveX controls

ActiveX controls are small programs, sometimes also called add-ons, that are used to enhance your browsing experience by allowing animation, or they can help with tasks such as installing security updates.

Some websites require you to install ActiveX controls to see the site or perform certain tasks. TEMPO 5 uses ActiveX controls to deliver convenient and necessary additional functionality such as printing reports and viewing of listing images. ActiveX controls can only be installed if you are logged in as the administrator of the PC you are on (in most cases, when you log into your home PC you are more than likely logged in as the administrator).
